

Vultures Guard My Shadow

Trail of Tears

One more time and then it's over
Cause I found myself in peace and
Now I am moving on Still I love the years that I gave my Passion and soul to you, but
Now I need to speak the truth

Without the sense or feeling to be enlightened
Have you forgotten all we had?
With fear I bid my last farewell
Damn you, you left me so sad
I need to speak my mind
I need to know the truth about you

Now my words are completed
I say nothing more I am done
And I am gone, I could have
Kept it going on forever

Slit the pulse of common sense and
Let it bleed all over us, for there
Is nothing more to say
The weight of the world appears
So real, yet the reasons so hollow
I kiss the serpent's tongue, and
Feel the task of what's to come