

Lake Q

Transit

Laying a little too close to the edge
Legs intertwined with our hands behind our heads
Home could never hold a match to a view like this
Save that hill behind Lake Quannapowitt

Daydreaming when the sky's the limit
Just saw a cloud with your face in it
I know I never wanna come back home
And I know I never wanna have to do this alone

I'll go on my own way if you let me
We can dive into this life just to see
I know I never wanna come back down
I never ever wanna come back down

We keep sleeping through
The heat of the moment
And sunsets we forget to notice
Too young to let go
Speak up or speak slow

I'll go on my own way if you let me
We can dive into this life just to see
I know I never wanna come back down
I never ever wanna come back down

I'll go on my own way if you let me
We can dive into this life just to see
Well do you ever wanna come back down?
Do you ever wanna come back down?

Daydreaming when the sky's wide open
Scream your words like the whole world can hear them
Carve them out with your hands in the clouds
Hold them forever and never come down

Never come down
Never come down

I'll go on my own way if you let me
We can dive into this life just to see
I know I never wanna come back down
I never ever wanna come back down

I'll go on my own way if you let me
We can dive into this life just to see
Well do you ever wanna come back down?
Well do you ever wanna come back down?

I'll go on my own way if you let me
We can dive into this life just to see
Well do you ever wanna come back down?
I never ever wanna come back down

I'll go on my own way if you let me
We can dive into this life just to see
Well do you ever wanna come back down?

Well do you ever wanna come back down?
