Slight

Treble Charger

There's a slight I heard before its time And you can comfort me In a way, I throw my weight upon a lie Is it not enough to lie within? And if it stands to right, Is it brought against to bear beneath the slight?

If it's so unkind So uncertain Fine We'll be still surprised No more less inclined

What will stay to lead away the doubt? The use of which til now Is it all involved and high enough without?
