

Arm Yourself

Tremonti

Arm yourself
Lick your wounds
While you can
Make your stand
And then pray you don't break

Like your own
Lay on themselves
Ignore their wounds
Kick down doors
And attack when they break
When they break
When they break

They say a man who fears will suffer twice,
The fear has surely died.
I throw a curse right into the rising sun,
Today this will all be done.

I hope that fate is on your side
Risk your life
Plan, escape every moment you wake

By yourself, alone again
Just like before
The strength you held, it is yours no more
No more

They say a man who fears will suffer twice,
The fear has surely died.
I throw a curse right into the rising sun,
Today this will all be done.

Ohhhhhhohhhhohhhh

I know you never know how
It ain't like here
You're never brought down
When it comes you'll never know when
But I've learned things I never knew then
Ohh

They say a man who fears will suffer twice,
The fear has surely died.
I throw a curse right into the rising sun,
Today this will be done.
They say a man who fears will suffer twice,
The fear has surely died.
I throw a curse right into the rising sun,
Today this will be done.
Will be done!