

Dark Trip

Tremonti

It's hard to tell the moment it went wrong
Now all the pain and all the fight is gone
Overtake these wretched walls,
To only find what I've lost.
But all the pain and all the fight is gone,
Forever gone

Well I welcome you to this place, my home.
Well it's withered in any case, my home.
How could you ever deny I care? I loved.
And if you're willing, I'll take you there
My home

It's hard to say the wrong that I would do
What's good for me is not so good for you
So go ahead and lick those wounds
But don't you heal too soon
'Cause all the pain and all the fight is gone
Forever gone

Well I welcome you to this place, my home.
Well it's withered in any case, my home.
How could you ever deny I care? I loved.
And if you're willing, I'll take you there
My home

Take from me the most
Leave me here alone
Forsaken me again!

Well I welcome you to this place, my home.
Well it's withered in any case, my home.
How could you ever deny I care? I loved.
And if you're willing, I'll take you there
My home
