

My Pain

Triptykon

Fall asleep in my arms
Never to wake up ever again

Morning comes as a surprise
To the solitary heart
This world within my mind
Did it ever exist?

I wish my touch could mend your bleeding wounds
And mark my existence in your time
I fight the impending lure of belated sleep
For fear of waking up and you are gone