The Ghost That's Haunting You

Trivium

Ghosts surrounding me, they're taking shape Awake and see them standing there

What the hell (what the hell you supposed to do) Are you supposed to do (when the whole world is after you) When your world (what the hell you supposed to do) Is coming after you (when the whole world is after you)

What have I done, what have I become Standing six feet deep, am I the only one

Save, save yourself It's killing me to have to say You know this is the only way

Save, save yourself There is nothing left to say or do You know I'll be the ghost that's haunting you

Apparition, read me my last rights Can't read me into the grave Quaint

What the hell (what the hell you supposed to do) Are you supposed to do (when the whole world is after you) When your world (what the hell you supposed to do) Is coming after you (when the whole world is after you)

What have I done, what have I become Standing six feet deep, am I the only one

Save, save yourself It's killing me to have to say You know this is the only way

Save, save yourself There is nothing left to say or do You know I'll be the ghost that's haunting you

(the ghost that's haunting you)

Save, save yourself It's killing me to have to say You know this is the only way

Save, save yourself There is nothing left to say or do You know I'll be the ghost that's haunting you