

Wait 'til The Night

Truly

It's a long way down
To the corner where the slippery
Exchange takes place, every day
Each twisted tale
Is a life times tangled twine
From a pale frustration
Unto the divine

Wait 'til the lights go out
Only a few of us around
Sally and Trish can feel
The obliteration

Wait 'til the night
When the stars and moon are bright
It surrounds you, it surrounds you
Spirits dumbfound you
Wait 'til the night
When the blackness veils
The blemished faces
Of the intertwined
Of the intertwined

what makes the anatomy speed
Like detonation of the seed
To a potential romance
That I don't need?

wait 'til the night
When the stars and moon are bright
Look what's found you
Loneliness surrounds you
Lust just hounds you
Wait 'til the night
When the blackness veils
The blemished faces
Of the intertwined
Of the intertwined

Wait 'til the night the cold midnight
The populations tranquilized
Desperation in the infinite Numbers collide

we're supposed to keep pace
But we're speeding, accelerating
All over the place
All over your place

Wait 'til the night
When the stars and moon are bright
I want inside you
I want inside you
I'm coming inside you
Wait 'til the night
When the blackness veils
The blemished faces

Of the intertwined
Of the intertwined

wait 'til the night
Wait 'til the night
Coming inside you
