

Lions

tUnE-yArDs

When can you come over, and then when you gotta leave?
'Cause it won't take me forever to be hiding up your sleeve.

Please oh can't you please just stay on over for the night?

And please oh won't you please just plug my ears and hold me tight?

When I scream it's like I'm in the middle of the fight.

Bring me daylight.

When will my heart swim in the blood-bath with other hearts that splash just like mine?

When you tell the lions that you love them so

You love them so, you love them so

When you tell the lions that you love them

Say you love them oh

When you tell the lions that you love them so

You love them so, you love them so

When you tell the lions that you love them

So you love them oh

All I had to eat today were three Doritos.

I'm so angry at your goody-two-shoes, punch you in the nose.

We can pretend it's Christmas while we're locked here in this box,

While my brother and all his friends whip out their tiny teenage cocks.

If I scream they'll hear us so let's count along with clocks: tocks,

Tocks, tocks, tocks.

When will my heart swim in the blood-bath with other hearts that pulse just like mine?

When you tell the lions that you love them so

You love them so, you love them so

When you tell the lions that you love them

Say you love them oh

When you tell the lions that you love them so

You love them so, you love them so

When you tell the lions that you love them so

You love them so

When you tell the lions that you love them so

You love them so, you love them so

When you tell the lions that you love them

So you love them oh

When you tell the lions that you love them so

You love them so, you love them so

When you tell the lions that you love them

So you love them so