Average Man

Turin Brakes

If I was a farmer Instead of a faker If I was a realer Not just some raker

Raking through a memory That just doesn't belong to me Just someone I could've been If I only kept walking

Have another drink my son Enjoy another cigarette 'Cos it's time you realized You're just an average man

Alone on a motorway Catch your breath Cat's eyes lead everyway To lonesomeness

Since you learn to hide your fears And downsize your dreams Still alive, still sincere Inside the scheme

Have another drink my son Enjoy another cigarette 'Cos it's time you realized You're just an average man

If this is darkness here And if this is darkness, coming

Have another drink my son Enjoy another cigarette 'Cos it's time you realized You're just an average man