

You rode the vibration of anger like riding the tide out to sea You tried to find the face of salvation, but all you found was me

Now you're staring at the sword in your chest like I owe you an apology

I would never suspect that you would do this to your family, but no mercy

You're not alone

I will arise and arrive from the depth of this hole

You must atone

When i reconcile with the force at the depth of my soul I will be home

You've got nowhere left to go, i've fought through liars and lo ws, and it all ends now

I'm hitting you where it hurts, and this is all you deserve, an d it all ends now

Oh how the tables have turned

Oh how your temples will burn

You've got nowhere left to go, you'd best prepare for the storm
, and it all ends, and it all ends now

You condemn me as the devil himself in an attmpt to erase my s park

But since the devil don't exist where I am, he could only be wh ere you are

You're not alone

I will arise and arrive from the depth of this hole

You must atone

When i reconcile with the force at the depth of my soul I will
be home

You've got nowhere left to go, i've fought through liars and lo
ws, and it all ends now

I'm hitting you where it hurts, and this is all you deserve, an d it all ends now

Oh how the tables have turned

Oh how your temples will burn

You've got nowhere left to go, you'd best prepare for the storm
, and it all ends, and it all ends now

I have walked in to the dark so I could come to know the light The light!