

Consume Gap

Twilightning

Take a trip with me, to where machines go crazy
And tell me what you see Sheer malfunction maybe?
To need for a new toy is like a devil's decoy Cannot cure the cancer that's bound to embrace the caprice
Never leave a consume gap - that's your sacrifice
You wanna decorate your life with crap
To make it all so nice
It's your duty, it's your job
You're a part in an endless jigsaw puzzle
Spreading like a fierce disease
Growing plague on the face on the earth
Hoarding more and more, satisfying your craving
Why the hell are you grinding for the things you already bathe in?
Could you ever slow down?
You're acting like a goddamn clown
See the signs everywhere, the structures are going to break
