

Under Somber Skies

Twilightning

It's getting harder to recall
In search for reason that you are here for
The off-handed lapse consumed your means
Right to the end... once again.

Everytime I sense that malice in you
I find myself pilloried
Underneath sinister skies

Every dull pretense made by you
In another senseless story
I just close my eyes
Under somber skies

It's getting easy to believe
The weight of misery is in too deep
The spirit of decline conceals solace within it's playful grin

The trembling and the fear is gone
Today the looking glass reflects the marvel of a pawn
Fallacious euphoria's paving now the way
So you may escape from cradle to grave
No more suppression, come and get me out of these stocks
Without discretion, I'm at the mercy of a mob

Roaring sky, fulminating furiously overtaking
I cannot hide my fears to aggression
The forbidden temptation, another aberration under somber skies