

Women in Cages

Tygers of Pan Tang

Something in her eyes sends you a message, she isn't there,
Something in her voice tries to fool you but you're too aware,
Listen to her words as they sing out in sadness,
They'll suddenly change to ring out in madness,
When you catch who she is,
She'll fight you with lies

Women, women in cages,
Prison of rages,
They don't wanna be free,
Women, driven with desire,
Frenzy of fire,
They all wanna be free

She pretends all is well, when she's hiding her hell of demons inside
They tell her she's walk, so of course she believes it,
They laugh when she cries,
But they go away when she falls for a stranger,
She feels safe, but he can only change her,
For a little while, for a little while