Coming Down

Tyler Childers

Don't you wish that you could go back sometimes Don't you wish that you could go back home Tryin' to remember just where it was Remember you ain't alone Remember you ain't alone

Every day's another pointless job
And every night's another lonesome song
Tryin' to remember when your bed wasn't leather
And you were the one singin' along
Lord, where did we go wrong

Now the sky is coming down
Can't you see the stars fallin'
Have yourself another round
Til you can't hear the darkness callin'
Til you can't hear the darkness call you

There was a good man in the makin' once In the light of yesterday Tryin' to remember just who he was Tryin' like hell to recall his name Well it used to be my name

Now the sky is coming down
Can't you see the stars fallin'
Have yourself another round
Til you can't hear the darkness callin'
Til you can't hear the darkness call you
