

Prisoner In The Rain

Tyler James

Forgot the words that made me human
So much of me I'm holding down
Forever hurt by my own choosing
Can't get my feet back on the ground

And I'm falling apart and it's breaking my heart
I'm hoping that soon will come a better day
A part of me weeps for the silence I seek but
The rest of me sleeps just to get away

I keep on running but these thoughts keep coming
I can't remember my name , my name
Like a prisoner in the rain
I keep on hiding but inside I'm fighting
I can't remember my name , my name
Like a prisoner in the rain

Living in the only world
So close to breaking
Fake in every way awaken now
Thought of my fears will overflow
And I'm scared of letting go
Please show me how

And I'm falling apart and it's breaking my heart
I'm hoping that soon will come a better day
A part of me weeps for the silence I seek but
The rest of me sleeps just to get away

I keep on running but these thoughts keep coming
I can't remember my name , my name
Like a prisoner in the rain
I keep on hiding but inside I'm fighting
I can't remember my name , my name
Like a prisoner in the rain

Moonlight turns to day
And the dark turns to light
There's another chance of holding on to hopes
I'll get it right
But the hope still remains

I keep on running but these thoughts keep coming
I can't remember my name , my name
Like a prisoner in the rain
I keep on hiding but inside I keep on fighting
I can't remember my name , my name
Like a prisoner in the rain

I keep on running but these thoughts keep coming
I can't remember my name , my name
Like a prisoner in the rain
