

All I Can Do

Tyrone Wells

Another day slips away and I get this feeling that nothing has changed

But these years keep coming like waves they wash over me day after day

I just watch them rolling by standing here beneath the sky and I can't hold the hands of time they will move like they will move but I can hold your head in mine give my time and give my heart it's all that I can do

Another night is flying by somebody's born, somebody dies
I wanna look deep in your eyes
I wanna laugh and I want to cry

I just watch it rolling by here with you beneath the sky