

Already Falling

Tyrone Wells

I hear them say
You should take your time
Love's a crooked line
You are
Just at the start with your whole life to come

But I know how I feel
I know this is real
You are
All that I want so I can't help but run

There goes my heart, there goes my head
That was the edge and I'm already falling
It happened so fast, like shattering glass
It's a beautiful crash and I'm already falling
I'm already falling, I'm already falling
I'm already falling, I'm already falling

Every time I see You
I can't believe my eyes
Your beauty runs deep
All the way to your soul

I cannot pretend
I'm indifferent when I
Watch every move
Everywhere that you go

There goes my heart, there goes my head
That was the edge and I'm already falling
It happened so fast, like shattering glass
It's a beautiful crash and I'm already falling
I'm already falling, I'm already falling
I'm already falling, I'm already falling

And I am not afraid
'Cause I know before I land
As I'm reaching out
I will find your hand

It's easy letting go
When in your heart you know
It's what you've waited for

I'm already falling (2x)

There goes my heart, there goes my head
That was the edge and I'm already falling
It happened so fast, like shattering glass
It's a beautiful crash and I'm already falling
I'm already falling, I'm already falling
I'm already falling, I'm already falling

I'm already falling
(falling for your love)
