Fail To Grow

Easily driven Madly insane Threatening shadows Deep in my brain There is not enough air To clear out the smell Tied down by these Ripping hands

Thieves in the temple So i cover my face A million fingers spread All over the place I'm filled up inside with this Strangling taste Every catch of breath is like a Suffocating waste

Violently drowning In flashes of flesh Screaming silence Mentally messed Still coming on to me I drown from within The shadows will vanish If i wash away my skin

To hard to think The noise is too loud Everyth thought is added to a Screaming mental crowd There is no escape And i can't break the spell Eternaly held back and trapped Inside my private hell
