

Human Nature

Uh Huh Her

Your world has changed
In over your head
You're going crazy
And all the things that you've realized instead
They take their toll
You'd stay the same
But you look up ahead
There's something out there
This love's a curse
But reality's worse without him there

It's not human nature
The way he stares right through you
What's he made of?
Staring at the sea, and everything between
As you watch the world fall, you watch the world fall

I think your name
And you show up to save me
This is crazy
And time stands still when I look in your eyes
And they're not cold
You are so dark but at times you are light
Should I be scared now?
Made up my mind
Oh there's something you hide
But I'll stay with you