

Set the Sails

Ultimatum

I leave my land, leave my homeland I set my sails to the night
The sparkle of the hope is in the hearts of everyone

I have to leave it all behind, I will leave the safety shore of my

My dreams take me to land where
There is no more suffering
I feel the wind is rising up
And I must leave

I set my sails to another land, and of I go

Sail away, to the shores of the new world
Sail away, let the winds take you far away
Sail away, to the harbor of your dreams
Sail away, to the land of your dreams

Far away is the land, The land of my dreams
Faith is all that we need now, we are of to the brave new world

I hope that our journey won't end to the bottom of dark black sea
We must keep on the fight for our dream, for our own land

No world to see anywhere, and it's the faith that's dying out
No wind to blow our sails. No more of raging storm to see

In my heart I know I have to believe Forever we must carry on

Sail away, to the shores of the new world
Sail away, let the winds take you far away
Sail away, to the harbor of your dreams
Sail away, to the land of your dreams

Sail away, to the shores of the new world
Sail away, let the winds take you far away
Sail away, to the harbor of your dreams
Sail away, to the land of your dreams
