

Boy Who Would Become A King

Ultraviolet Sound

He forgot who he is
Has no idea what he has done to this
It's taking over his brain
Sex has become his cocaine
Endless excuses don't mean a thing

I'm reaching out
'Cuz I want you to know
How much I need you
And how much I don't want you to go
Far away, but you're in front of my face
You could still have everything
The boy who would become a king

Did you forget about who you are
A man, a lover, and a superstar
If only you could see
What your distance is doing to me
And that for you, I would do anything

I'm reaching out
'Cuz I want you to know
How much I need you
And how much I don't want you to go
Far away, but you're in front of my face
You can still have everything
The boy who would become a king

Is there any way
You can see the blood on my blood on my hands
Red from trying to save you
Time and time time and time again
Is there any way
You can catch a tear from my tear from my eye
And save me this time
See me this time
Save me this time
And all that I can do is try
'Cuz this is how I feel inside, inside

I'm reaching out
'Cuz I want you to know
How much I love you
I love you
