

All You Ever Need Is Love

Una Healy

Butterflies and long goodbyes when you can't even think
When all the fires and all desires keep clouding everything
If you feel like you're falling, just stop and take a breath
Before you give it all in, and way out of your depth

All you need is someone to hold you tight
When the storm rages in the night
When you feel like you can't go on
And you're shipwrecked and all alone
When you're down on your knees
Hoping for salvation, please
You've had enough
All you ever need is love

It's the comfort of coming home, being asked about your day
It's the voice on the telephone to tell you you're okay
It's the safety of believing the feelings they won't change
And though the years are stealing, your eyes still see the same

All you need is someone to hold you tight
When the storm rages in the night
When you feel like you can't go on
And you're shipwrecked and all alone
When you're down on your knees
Hoping for salvation, please
You've had enough
All you ever need is

Love to get old with
Love with a meaning
Love you can hold on to
That you can believe in

All you need is someone to hold you tight
When the storm rages in the night
When you feel like you can't go on
And you're shipwrecked and all alone
When you're down on your knees
Hoping for salvation, please
You've had enough
All you ever need is love

All you ever need is love
All you ever need is love
