Sickness

Under The Flood

Will you ever change?
All I see's the same thing.
Watched you run away, watched you run from me.

You were such a shame tonight with double crossed bloodshot eye s

She fell to the ground, well it's a long way down I just wanted you to clarify, how the thrill was worth the ride

But she just sits and she cries Ignoring all of the signs Maybe she'll take the time To stop and realize

She's got a sickness now
And she can't slow down
Better take a look at herself
You better take a look at yourself
You're not a wasted life
You're just afraid to try and fight the fear inside
To the fight the fear in your eyes

Too afraid to live your life You're poisoned and paralyzed She crawled down the stairs But there was nobody there All alone in an empty high You're locked up and terrified

But she sits time after time Avoiding all of the signs Maybe she'll take the time To finally realize

Well I'm not judging you, I'm not judging you But look at yourself, just look at her

She's got a sickness now, and she can't slow down She's got a sickness now, and she can't slow down.