Ikarus

The legend tells a story of a man who challenged nature he built his dream but he didnŽt respect the rules

I will escape out of this world I will escape out of my time with every breath I feel the conclusion with every breath I dream my dream

I spread my wings and fly away I brave the nature and catch the wind but I wonŽt break the agreement with the sun

No more will I feel like a prisoner no more memories about the things that I have done the time has come and I will turn my life the time has come because the wind is right

I spread my wings and fly away I brave the nature and catch the wind but I canŽt break the agreement with the sun

I fall and I enjoy this moment no earth and I can touch the clouds

I spread my wings and fly away I brave the nature and catch the wind but I canŽt break the agreement with the sun

I spread my wings and fly away I brave the nature and catch the wind but I donŽt break the agreement with the sun

I spread my wings and fly away I catch the wind but I donŽt break the agreement with the sun
