

We're back to haunt you like no one before it's all truth no lies go out and explore make yourself the one don't surrender our soul compulsions lie deep and are hard to control like serpents in a pit with you stuck inside we're bitten by problems that always arrive emotions wil l hurt and don't. fail to subside see we're all the same when we start to confide "we try to live our lives trouble-free but that seems impossible the price we pay for our humanity we try to work ourselves out of the tangled webs w e weave to no avail we fail again and again' as if you didn't know that there is something wrong look around for yourself and then ask for how long can we live like this with a will to go on trying to make a life now days sure isn't fun these themes are put forward to be by your side when we grasp the concept we've finally arrived this is just a take of what I see of life I believe what I see with my truthful eyes.
