Epilogue Pt. 2

Now sweet years have passed Well I can't go that far Another night I'm gonna dream inside her Feels so unreal it only takes a while You're gone I feel I'm going astray

They said in time you'll learn To live with all your pain Her velvet arms she always wraps around me Please don't succumb to the doom that haunts me Don't let it swallow your heart

I hide all day To make her stay Near the celtic shore Waves sing her song You wish for mother's hands Can't touch you Alone in the dark You quiver in cold

You squeeze your pillow At nights you weep Cause rita kane has died So many years (tears)

All in vain but my life in dreams Though now she dwells in god's forgotten realms Never wanted this (never wanted) Never wanted these (never wanted) I never wanted dreams I never wanted anything

"i turn my face away from the bright light of day, I hide her this way"

No?