Oz Factor

Unwritten Law

look to the sky at night and dream in my mind you'll find the fiend I don't think I can hold on much longer the pressure gives in and that's just a part of me well can't make my difference in this world where I am crazy my mind starts wearing thin reality sets in that's what I'm brought here for what you can't see the oz will bring by yourself you'll find the key only then you'll make the connection a fine line between what's known and what's unseen can't make my difference in this world where I am crazy my feet are on the ground my head's up in the clouds that's what I'm brought here for the oz factor... that's what we're here for that's what we're here for ... the world comes to an end reality sets in that's what I'm brought here for ...
