

Obey

Upon This Dawning

What will you do when you're alone
And you realize everything is gone
Grow old and bare the weight of life on your own
They always told you that this is the truth
That you'll get everything, you can be anything
Your life was built up making you believe that everything is fine
Why don't you get that you're just sharing a grave with the past that you'll never face, that you'll never face

Why've you not had enough of being treated like fucking slaves
You're just another one that obeys with nothing to say

Don't blame the others and get that you're fucked
You're gonna watch your body turn into dust
And I wish all the best when you're praying hard, begging your god
This world is a cancer and you're just giving up
The fact that you're fucked doesn't mean that we are

No way to save everything you left behind and I can feel it tonight, but I can't fill it tonight
You'll never find a way to overcome the truth
I want to run, just run away from you

Why can't you see how they really want to make you believe That if you confess your sins you're going to be the last man standin g
No matter what, obey your god, slaves

Don't blame the others and get that you're fucked
You're gonna watch your body turn into dust
And I wish all the best when you're praying hard, begging your god
This world is a cancer and you're just giving up
The fact that you're fucked doesn't mean that we are

No way to save everything you left behind
and I can feel it tonight, but I can't fill it tonight
You'll never find a way to overcome the truth
I want to run, just run away from you

This world is sinking in dying lights
And I'm just trying with all my strength
To carry on and try to survive

This world is sinking in dying lights

No way to save everything you left behind (2x)
and I can feel it tonight, but I can't fill it tonight
You'll never find a way to overcome the truth
I want to run, just run away from you