

The Sound Of Your Breath

Upon This Dawning

What the fuck would I be without you in my life?
I can feel your presence, even when I'm alone with myself like invisible lovers, I can feel your taste on my lips I'll dance on the sound of your breath

Give me the strength and keep me safe if I collapse
'cause I never imagined that your words could steal my life when I'm lost in the darkest time you lead my hand to see lights in nights of winter, I'm still losing my mind

You'll live forever to bring the lights to me whispering softly all the words I need to hear

Strong like a castle, old like the ancient trees
strong like a castle, pure like wind
I know you'll live forever
Strong like a castle, old like the ancient trees
strong like a castle, pure like wind

Give me strength and keep me safe if I collapse
'cause I never imagined that your words could steal my life
when I'm lost in the darkest time you lead my hand
to see lights in nights of winter, I'm still losing my mind

I can still feel your presence, even when I'm alone with myself
like invisible lovers, I can feel your taste on my lips
