

So close your eyes and take a deep breath they are listening open your mouth and throw out everything you have to say you know you're not alone we'll all be close to you and god forsaken places will see the sunlight in your eyes

We'll be your voice they're an unsinkable vessel but we are the ocean we will be your voice
they are a vessel but we are the ocean

Everyday is so precious

Don't let the silence fill the room, so please shout the truth we just want a better world, where everyone knows how to love and love is our only weapon

We will be your voice
We are the messengers

They are an unsinkable vessel

We will be your voice
they are a vessel but we are the ocean
every day is so precious
Don't let the silence fill the room, so please shout the truth
we just want a better world where everyone knows how to love
and love is our only weapon

We will be your voice
We are the messengers
They are an unsinkable vessel