

Starting off it was better than this i know it hurts but do you like to pretend that you can just let go of the grip that you hold so tight cuz they can tell by the look in your eye they're down this travelled road theres a need for a change a need to feel the wings

to feel free
like the weight's gone off my shoulders
from the top of the world and i can finally breathe
and do you feel like me having been through what i've been through cuz from the top of the world is where you can finally see it's safe to just let go slow it down to re-capture the words what you're hearing taught you what to learn they don't care that you can't stop shaking just understand you are right from now see what you mean and make your way out cuz you are down a dead end road if things don't change, and go your way

having been through what i've been through

you lost your way home you lost it all it seems
better off, better off without it (understand, understand, understand you are right from now) we all, we all seem to, we all, we all need (slow it down, just slow it down) i feel free

like the weight's gone off my shoulders
having been through what i've been through
it's safe to just let go
