

The Wizard

Valerie Dore

I heard somebody say he'll be coming tonight to the ring of bells when the dark turns to day
He will go to the knights of the Round Table He's been called by the cries of the kings he will guide their minds
'til he leaves with invisible wings

He will raise up his arms and show battles in air but they're all gone now He can dress up with charms he can just disappear and you don't know how He was born in mysterious times under care of gods
he can chose kings and light up the nights

I can see the wizard
is coming
and he'll show which is the way
The wizard
is coming
and today's a better day
The wizard
Enchanting
And he'll go fly to the stars tonights Look up and see the light

Like a prince from afar in a pauper's disguise he will come to you He can see through your heart he can read in your eyes
He knows all of you
He knows all of the future and past He knows he'll be doomed by a love that forever will last