The Fire Burns

The signs at your arms Visions of my future Remembrances of my past again When he will leave You have to follow We are building dark bridges And find the way to the eternity of death We're praying to foreign gods The real evolution has begun An oath of dark

The fire burns in my eyes Don't be afraid to enter the night The fire burns in my eyes And I will take my last breath

A feeling of deception Buried deep in your soul And you'll burn And find the way to the eternity of death We're praying to foreign gods The real evolution has begun

The fire burns in my eyes Don't be afraid to enter the night The fire burns in my eyes And I will take my last breath