Vancouver Sleep Clinic

I'd sunk in oceans blue
Now they're all frozen over
I should have took your hand
We should have crossed the border

Because never again
Means none of this at all
Forever pretend
In our shelters we don't fall

Falling short again
I'm falling short again
The ranges set so high
And I could never climb
Falling

It's so cold, I've come out
Where's the all I have to show
The knowledge that I've never known
The garden that I failed to grow

Cause when the wreck is through and it's all consumed
Maybe then baby, you'll tell me that we didn't cling to enough
That we couldn't outlast the rough

Falling short again
I'm falling short again
The ranges set so high
And I could never climb
Falling

On my own
I've been outgrown
On my own
I've been outgrown

We've been outgrown x5
