

Sleeping World

Vancouver Sleep Clinic

I'm a wandering soul
Lost in a city of homes
The earth is plenty
But the soil is thin

My shallow patience
And my tender skin
Could never free me
Like you did

In a glorious moment
You show me beautiful lights
And I want to know all the colours
Emotion in your eyes

In a night made of diamonds
I don't see anything else
Cause I'm just learning to hold you
Above a sleeping world

So deep in the journey
I've been longing for you
But all my love could never be enough

Then my eyes were opened
And I found everything I was looking for

(You found me out)
(You found me now)
