

You Fly

Vanden Plas

On that day you went away, there was so much left to say
Words disappeared and faded without a trace
Memorized - mesmerizing field of dreams

Seer of entire to your limitation of being Protecting your seed in a time and a land full of scars out of war

You fly just to see how all begun
To innocence, the reason for it all

You hold me and you hurt me
And you can catch the light that shines on me
Sometimes when I sleep,
I try to heal your wounds within my dreams

My life is younger than your eyes have never seen the sun again
But they can tell so many common stories, 'til the light failed him

And you fly to the seal of our love
To hold the pages painted there above
And you fly just to see what I've become Improve the circle, the reason for it all

You fly
And you fly to the seal of our love
You fly just to see what I've become
Improve the circle, the reason for it all
And you fly (x22)