

If There Were No Song

Vanessa Williams

If there were no song
Only silence stretching on and on and on
Then my heart would barely beat for my soul it could not speak
If there were no song

If there were no song
rhymes to write upon
Then for surely I would die for my life would be a lie
If there were no song

Would God still be listening if saints and angels couldn't sing

If there were voices but no singing
If a man
Would the heavens come crushing down to this barren ground?
If there were no song, no song
If there were no song

Would God still be listening if saints and angels couldn't sing

If there were no song
Only silence stretching on and on and on
Then my heart would barely beat for my soul it could not speak
If there were no song, no song, no song

If there were no song
If there were no song, no song
