Psycho

As I wake up every day All I know is I'm too tired Can't find the strength in me To put up with your suspicions All the crap you're telling me In those mails you're sending me You claim that I'm a cheater And that I do not deserve you If it's how you see those things Then soon I won't be near you So just keep that in mind That althought you look damn fine You don't rule my world I'm an independet girl

There is a psycho Hidden under Underneath your skin Is it forbidden for me To deal with my own things There is a problem for you If you keep harrassing me It's time you realized that there Is a psycho in your skin

Keep calling up my friends To make sure that I am with theam Do I need to remind you that I already have a mother You're a master in disquise Hoping I won't recognise That you're everywhere I go You don't really trust my a bit The situation makes me mad I'm giving you my final warning I am a crazy girl And to get on my nerves Is a risky thing Now hear what I sing

There is a psycho Hidden under Underneath your skin Is it forbidden for me To deal with my own things There is a problem for you If you keep harrassing me It's time you realized that there Is a psycho in your skin
