

I know what it's like wanting more having your heart thrown on the floor your dignity out the door

So i'm too smart to let it happen twice can't you see i'm just too dignified

I see my friends crying on the floor
I see my friends walking through that door
I see my friends asking for more but crying on the floor just ain't my bag no more

Oh my love you've been hurt by love before you didn't trust me when i asked for more you were afraid of my favorite part of me I'm a hopeless romantic can't you see?

For a second there you made me want to change to lose that part of me in an effort to make you stay

I'm too smart to let it happen twice
can't you see i'm just too dignified?

I see my friends crying on the floor
I see my friends walking through that door
I see my friends begging for more
but crying on the floor just ain't my bag no more crying on the floor just ain't my bag no more crying on the floor just ain't my bag no more
