

Now

Vertical Horizon

There's no time to stay
When it would give you away
It's not enough to feel
When you imagine it's real

One day is another
And you begin to wonder
The lullabies you make up
You sing with everything
Everything that you dreaming of

It's so far to go
To find something you know
You save face with words
And then you carry the hurt

And one day is another
So much you can discover
The camouflage you hide in
Covers up everything
Everything that is shining

Fall into the rhythm that surrounds you
It's all around you, a sound like sunlight
Rising from the middle of the ocean
You are in motion, and there's no pain
Right now, now, now, now, not now
No there's no pain
Right now, now, now, now, not now

The same thing again
You can't remember when
The time flew so fast
And now it's all in the past

One day is another
You're hiding under covers
Something has awakened
But it feels like everything
Everything has been taken

Fall into the rhythm that surrounds you
It's all around you, a sound like sunlight
Rising from the middle of the ocean
You are in motion, and there's no pain
Right now, now, now, now, not now
No there's no pain
Right now, now, now, now, not now

I wanna be your reverie
I wanna know you, I wanna hold you
I wanna feel you next to me
Like it's the first time
Like it's the last time

I wanna be your satellite
Now that I found you, let me surround you

And let the current make a sacrifice
Like it's the first time
Like it's the last time

Fall into the rhythm that surrounds you
It's all around you, a sound like sunlight
Rising from the middle of the ocean
You are emotion, and there's no pain
Right now, now, now, now, not now
No there's no pain
Right now, now, now, now, not now