

The Ocean

VHS or Beta

It's been a while since you touched the ocean
It's been a while since you rowed the sea
We've washed away, along way to nothing
And back again, come back for something

Where sunsets children have wept
And mouths have fallen with dust
Their hands they scrape to find their home

And those tender kisses, all burned away
Those tender kisses, all gone away
And I'm bringing back
The Ocean

A million cells, they all molt to nothing
Curled up inside that silver lining
We're scattered 'round like precious wishes
Watch where we land, we all land with kisses

Our dreams are covered in red
Where Scarlets children have wept
Like a moments breath upon the lips

And those tender kisses, all burned away
Those tender kisses
And I'm bringing back
The Ocean
