

Resurrection

Vice Squad

They said our feelings were too strong
Our concern would only drag us down
They laughed at all the boys and the girls
Who cried the tears to baptise the world
Tears to baptise the world
Some got rick because they were used
Perfect youth cult so abused
We all gathered to dance and applaud
We cried out no one heard us call
No one heard us call

Try to bury the legend, it's time for the resurrection
Tomorrow's forever, so look ahead
There's more to life than playing dead
Like the neon that lights up the night
Pride and hope once again burn bright
Are you ready for the resurgence of the unconquered contingent
They'll give the torch to carry, alright
But the unworthy shall bathe in its light
The rich mans gain is the punks loss
You carry the banner that becomes a cross
Banner that becomes a cross

We've got something to shout about
We are the immortal cult
No more fighting, this time stay together
Look ahead, tomorrow's for ever
Tomorrow's forever

Write an epitaph for us all
We'll sit back and calculate your fall
A new strength you could never explain
Born again from your dying pain

We're no pathetic fashion
We're the ultimate faction
We've found ourselves, it's not too late
Strength and unity with our only faith