

Real Lady's Man

Vince Gill

Oh, the taste of wine and liquor
And a woman's tender kiss
Sure paints the perfect picture
That's so hard to resist

Though the lure of that old night life
Has always tempted fools
It can't compare with what you
Stand to lose

Remember the promise
You wear on your left hand
Cheating's no companion
For a real lady's man

If only I had listened
To my own words of advice
And turned down the invitation
In another woman's eyes

For the softness of a stranger
I threw good love away
Friend, there ain't no higher
Price to pay

Remember the promise
You wear on your left hand
Cheating's no companion
For a real lady's man

Remember the promise
You wear on your left hand
Cheating's no companion
For a real lady's man