Love Is All

We came to this world breaking the silence Crying for the first air we breath That's how life begins

Since we're born our destiny's decided By thousand ways of hating That humankind creates to divide us all

But there's only one word Stronger than God Strong enough to save us Save me Love is All that I need To be strong to be free Different creeds, boundaries And ethnicities Differences that should enrich us all But oh, Humanity!

They took it wrong and now we are watching Growing racism but we keep living our lives Like it's not our fault

All the world is now asking why We close our eyes to the greed of mankind Ruining our lives
