

Lost

Visions of Atlantis

I see her face in my dreams like a star shining all across the sea I remember this moment years ago there was only you and me When I wake up in sadness
I realized my deep wounds never heal Living only in memories all is lost, coldness I can feel Sky turned darker and darker Soulless voices whispering her name End came closer and closer Endless sleep was sweeping in her veins
She faded away
like a rose on a winterday
I remember her last words
please don't cry for me
Lost in endless night
take me there, where I see you again
Reach out for the light
when will I break my pain
Come and fly with me
all across the raging sea
Together we will be when will I ever be free
One night I was dreaming seemed to me like reality, so clear A fallen angel inside me speaks to me, tells me what has to be done There's a fire in my heart burning bright like the glory of a king For too long I was waiting now my soul is flowing in the wind
She faded away
like a rose on a winterday
Lost in endless night
Come and fly with me
Together we will be
when will I ever be free
Come and fly with me
Together we will be
