

Slow down a moment and let me try
To call your attention to all these things
You are rapidly passing by
On your highspeed life

These children are waving and laughing at you
But you won't reward it with a smile
These people are dying and crying
But you won't even donate a tear
Have you ever thought about this all
How the apath captivates
You've shut away all your feelings in a heart of stone
Don't crucify yourself

Slow down a moment and let me try
To make you believe that i'd give my everything
Just to see you smile
Smile for me
Slow down a moment
