

Red Winter\'s Snow II: Blood and Stone

Voices of Destiny

There is noone left to mourn with me
No single bird to sing

Signs of life disappeared
Now there\'s wasteland all around
Where once were fields of green

Would you say we\'ve always saved our face
Spent our time in useful ways?

Signs of life disappeared
Now there\'s wasteland all around
Where once were fields of green

We have burned paradise
Clouds dust and smoke arise
Make all the angels see:
This is humanity
We\'re always fighting for being superior
We\'ve lost this fight
Lost our minds

Signs of life disappeared
Now there\'s wasteland all around
Where once were fields of green
The sun has melt away all the show
See our monument lying in ruins
All that remains is blood and stone

Right beside the brain pours out of a head
The king has lost his unlawful crown
Crawled to the edge and fell to death
