Redeemed in Flames

Vomitory

Slaughtered enemies scattered Trail of death they walked Drenched in their own blood

A sound of thousands fills the sky A death that comes so clear When the rain of fire falls

Flames that will consume A boiling death appear The last second alive

Raped in endless pain Licked by the infernal tongue No escape from suffering

The sky is red by burning death Redeemed in napalm flames they died

Survival is not an option

No chance in hell

The end will come for them all

In the infernal massacre, their flesh starts to burn Boiling skin a smell of decay Buried in their own intestines, they rot

An endless emptiness
Ashes cover the ground
Where they obeyed their command

Silence fills the world No living thing escapes Mass death for them all

The sky is red by burning death Redeemed in napalm flames they died