

If I don't take you seriously
If I can laugh at your randomness
If I can have a little fun baby
If I can only feel my bliss
If I can ignore my conscience
And reject my angry guide
If I can take my soul out of hiding
And get it right back
To reviving what had died
I wanna be alive... so alive

If I can love you without hating you
If I can accept your lack of guilt
If I can walk across the skinny wire
If I can make my conscience tilt
If I can lose myself for once
If I can regain my youth
I'm so sick and tired of lying
Gonna dig down to the truth

I found my Independence here
I finally let go of my fear
My mind is finally, finally clear, clear, clear

Whoever said we had to be crazy glued
To our personalities?
I wanna jump on the bed and hit the ceiling
Any symbol of being free
Last night you laughed so hard
I could see your shining bliss

Don't wanna live another day
Without knowing how you kiss

I found my Independence here
I finally let go of my fear
My mind is finally, finally clear, clear, clear